Elect Everett Leier, Gideon, Crops Conference Chairman

By Leo Schade

NEW MADRID -- More than 100 farmers attending the 27th annual Soils and Crops conference, at the Community building Monday heard the latest on insect control, irrigation, and new crop varieties.

Everett Leier, Gideon, was elected chairman, succeeding W. M. Fortner, Tallapoosa.

Neal Ross, Catron, was picked as chairman, Fred Stroud, Matthews, secretary, and Abura Wraether, Portageville, registrar.

The morning session was in charge of John Garrett, Portageville, area soils agent, and Flerney Jones, Portageville, area entomology agent.

Garrett said that soybeans had become a Cinderella crop, and by increasing yields it could well become the major crop.

"Anyone can increase his yield 10 bushels or more per acre, through weed control, as well as through use of fertilizers.

"The average of 25 bushels per acre for soybeans on the 160,000 acres in New Madrid county, can be raised. It costs $1.74 per bushel to raise 25 bushels per acre, while it costs but $1.20 per bushel to raise 45 bushels per acre. Therefore the greater profit lies in increased production."

Jones spoke on combating insects in corn and soybeans. He said that many complaints have been received on the stink bug and that it can be controlled.

Of corn borer control Jones said that it is still our worst enemy, the European and the Southwestern borers.

"We can control the European borer, because it appears in the top of the ear but the Southwestern borer comes in from the roots and ground level."

"Control of the borers will take time.

"Farmers should plant early and at nearly the same time, to control the Southwestern borer. There are highly developed chemicals for use in fighting the pest.

"There are four generations of European borers. Treat the plants when you get 10 per cent pollen sheds and then treat them ten days later."

Panel discussions on increasing soybean and corn production were led by Clyde Scott of Sikeston, and Bert Latham of Canolau.

Scott said that irrigation had increased soybean yield from 25 to 45 bushels per acre, and on one 40 acre field he received 57 bushels per acre, and as much as 127 bushels of corn.

"I find it cheaper to buy wells than pipe," said Scott.

"Later planted beans proved the best. This year I watered them three times and the irrigation cost was my gasoline cost of $3.75."

Afternoon speakers included Joe Scott, Portageville crop specialist, who discussed new crop varieties and cyst nematode resistant varieties. He made recommendations on use of chemicals.

Herbert Morgan, of the pest control branch, extension center in Sikeston, said that the quarantine area for cyst nematode had been enlarged south to Arkansas line, to Stoddard county, and into parts of Bollinger and Cape Girardeau counties.

He discussed the need for the quarantine to help move farm products in normal channels without a market price penalty. He told of new crop varieties, discussed the use of chemicals and said that the Pickett soybean variety is resistant to the cyst nematode.

Check Charge Rezoning Request Rejected

James Lindell Cox, 223 Edmundson, was bound over to circuit court on a felonious check writing charge today by Judge T. J. Brown of Charleston after hearing the testimony of two witnesses in a Magistrate Court preliminary hearing.

He is charged with writing a $25 check Nov. 24 to the J.C. Penney Company store knowing that no funds were in the Bank of Sikeston.

Prosecuting Attorney Fielding Potashnick called two witnesses-- Emma Crouthers, an employee of the Penney Store, and William Werneck, cashier of the Bank of Sikeston.

Mrs. Crouthers identified Cox as the man who gave a check to her.

Mrs. Crouthers said that either $12 or $13 in merchandise was purchased with the check. She said the merchandise was later returned to the store.

Frank O'Hassen, Scott City, was fined $16 for careless driving and $16 for having a vehicle improperly registered.

Sylvia Keith, Vanduser, was fined $16 for careless driving. Lee Norman, East Prairie, was fined $16 for careless driving.

Edward McDonough, Morley, was fined $16 for not having a vehicle properly registered.

A charge of non-support against Marion Brents, 817 Pine, was dismissed upon payment of court cost.

A felony charge of stealing against McKinley Lambert, Sikeston, was reduced to a misdemeanor, to which he pleaded guilty. Brown sentenced Lambert to one year in the county jail.

The sentence was suspended and Lambert was placed on probation for one year upon payment of court costs.

He is charged with stealing two rifles, a .30-.30 and .22 caliber, Dec. 2 from a truck parked at the West-End Service station.

Eddie Jackson and Jewell Marshall, both of Sikeston, waived preliminary proceedings and were bound over to appear in circuit court Jan. 27 to face a charge of stealing a 1959 Chevrolet Jan. 11 from the Semo Motor Company.

Bond for both was set at $1,500. Neither posted bond and Continued on Page 8

The board of adjustment yesterday rejected Don Kellett's application for the rezoning of Lots three and four of block four on the B. F. Chaney addition, from single-family residential to commercial.

Before the meeting began Dwight Crader, chairman of the board, disqualified himself because Kellett had retained him as lawyer.

Bruce Lewis was appointed acting chairman. Kellett told the board that the lots were to be used primarily for parking facilities for the Greyhound and Conner Bus Lines, but there could be building on the property.

Kellett's restaurant is a stop for the bus lines. The board was given a petition, signed by property owners, asking that the application be refused.

The petition was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Yeargain, 406 Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hopwood, 400 Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. John York, 315 Hardin; Mrs. Albert Gray, 312 Hardin; C. M. Silca, 316 Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. Windle Fikuart, 311 Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sorrells, 408 Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Choate, 409 Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, 208 Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. John Donoho, 321 Hardin and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lee, 314 Hardin.

Sorrells told the board that he didn't think that Kellett needed the extra parking facilities.

"From all appearances there is not as much business there as there was six months ago," Sorrells said.

After hearing the testimony, the board went into a closed session for 10 minutes before taking action.

The Board of Adjustment was made up of George Johnson, Lewis, Ralph Boyer and Tharon Stallings.

Pledges End To Disorders

LAGOS, Nigeria AP -- Maj. Gen. Aguiyi Ironsi, Nigeria's new military ruler, says he will end disorders in this West African nation and will impose martial law if necessary.

Ironsi told a news conference at his heavily guarded headquarters that he will have a committee draw up a new constitution and will hold national elections when the constitution is completed.

"I am a soldier and it has never been my ambition to meddle in politics," said the 41-year-old military chief who took over power Sunday after an attempted coup had been smashed.

The coup attempt came after three months of rioting in Nigeria's western region in which more than 100 persons have been killed.

Two Brothers Hurt in Crash

Two brothers were injured in a single car accident on a black top road, four miles south of Charleston, Monday at 5:30 p.m.

A 1964 Chevrolet, driven by Michael Dugan, 17, route three, Charleston, failed to stop at a "T" intersection, ran off the road into a ditch and overturned. The driver received a possible head injury.

His brother, James M. Dugan, 14, route three Charleston, received possible broken ribs. Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Thompson to Join

War on Poverty

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has announced the appointment of Charles Thompson, former city manager of Springfield, Mo., as state co-ordinator of programs in the war on poverty.

Thompson, with a salary of $15,000 annually, will serve under Philip V. Maher, head of the state's anti-poverty organization.

Maher said Thompson will help local groups interpret the Economic Opportunity Act and explain to them what aid they can get in fighting poverty on the local level.

NEW YORK AP -- Vincent J. Donohue, 50, who directed "The Sound of Music" and "Sunrise at Campobello" on Broadway, died Monday.

THE EAST PRAIRIE post office has won a prize for its beauty.

Postmaster Will Fly To Capital Tomorrow

EAST PRAIRIE -- Robert H. Hunter, 46-year-old postmaster, will leave the post office here--neat, trim and clean inside and out--tomorrow to receive a special citation in the nation's capital.

The East Prairie native, his wife, Roberta, a high school art teacher, and son, Kent, 16, will fly from Paducah, Ky., tomorrow to Washington, D.C.

They will be present in the post office department building there at 10 a.m. Thursday when Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien gives Hunter a special merit award. Hunter and 13 other postmasters will be recognized for their participation in President Lyndon B. Johnson's natural beauty program.

Hunter said that part of the citation was due to "flowers I purchased myself" for the outside of the East Prairie post office.

He also said that post office employees worked the grounds last summer to get them in shape.

A letter received by Hunter from the post office department reported that the award was for the spotless interior of the building as well as for the exterior and grounds. He won the citation for postal region eight, comprising Missouri, Iowa and Arkansas.

Flower bed arrangements, which adorn the grounds, will be continued next spring and summer. There will be an assortment of flowers in built-in boxes on the front of the building, which was completed in 1962.

Hunter became postmaster in May of that year but has worked in the post office here since 1938.

Sentencing of Three Postponed

NEW MADRID -- Formal sentencing of three men, convicted of armed robbery, assault and kidnapping of R. L. Richards, Matthews, has been postponed from today until next Tuesday.

Billie Joe Garrett was sentenced to 50 years, his brother, Lonnie Garrett, 30 years, and Sammie Irby, 40 years.

Richards was shot and wounded, when he was attacked near his home Oct. 22. Richards recovered from his wounds but lost the sight of an eye.

Oil Outlook Brighter in Mississippi County Search

CHARLESTON -- Oil and gas possibilities in Mississippi county, are reported by the drillers to be brighter. The first drilling project will be completed this week.

The wildcatting is by the Mammoth Producing Corporation, Clare, Mich., which has been in the region for a year, securing leases for more than 100,000 acres in the Pascola Arch basin.

The first drilling on the Big Oak Farms, owned by Hal Bogle, southeast of East Prairie, has shown signs of a porous rock structure that contains traces of oil.

The depth reached Monday was 4,310 feet. Drilling at this location will continue until the 5,100-foot mark is reached. Signs of oil were found at 1,425 feet, a second pattern at 1,715 feet, and a third at 1,900 to 1,935 feet.

Another well is being started. It is located on the DeLaney farm, three miles east of Charleston on highway 60, 12 miles north of the first.

A third well will be started Jan. 19 on the Mounty Level farms, one mile from Wolf Island, also owned by Bogle.

Chinese Take Propaganda Edge in Cuba Conference

HAVANA (AP) -- Observers believe the Soviet-Chinese sparring at the recent Havana conference of revolutionaries from Asia, Africa and Latin America had little immediate effect on the Peking-Moscow struggle for leadership of world communism.

But they feel the Chinese emerged with a slight edge after many of the Chinese delegate's hard-line words found their way into conference resolutions.

Peking representative Wu Hsueh-tien called for more "people's wars against U.S. imperialism and its lackeys" and accused the Soviet Union of taking a less belligerent approach because it fears a nuclear war.

He also charged the Soviets were cooperating with the United States in its "peace talk" intrigues on the Viet Nam question.

Among the Chinese statements that wound up in the conference's pronouncements was Wu's assertion that "U.S. imperialism is beset with tremendous difficulties both at home and abroad and is facing an imminent and deep crisis in all spheres."

Wu and the resolution said the United States "finds itself in an inextricable predicament and is being beaten everywhere, with total defeat awaiting it."

Probe Mystery Of Sky Lights Takes Dip

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) -- The aurora borealis, or northern lights, nature's awesome fireworks in the skies, always has intrigued man. He hopes to find out what sets them off during this age of rockets.

Scientists at Johns Hopkins University have assembled their fourth and most inquisitive load of instruments for probing the electrical display over Canada.

The seven-foot nose cone section of gadgetry was sent today to the Goddard Space Center at Greenbelt, Md., for a final check. An Aerobee rocket is scheduled to boost it 100 miles high over Fort Churchill Feb. 15 or within the next 30 days.

The theory is that the northern lights are caused by a stream of high energy electrons from the sun striking the earth's magnetic field.

With its population standing at 60,515, New York became the largest city in the nation in 1800.

Charleston To Train 60

WASHINGTON -- Sixty unemployed or underemployed workers at Charleston, Mo., will receive 24 weeks training to become farm hand machinery operators and maintenance men. The course will be conducted by the public schools there.

The project was approved by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

The training will be under the manpower development and training act.

The Missouri Division of Employment Security will make referrals, which were established after it determined that there was reasonable expectation for employment of the graduates.

Trainees who meet the qualifications of the federal statute will draw training allowances.

U.S. Pulse Flutters - GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Republican congressional leaders say the State of the Union is less than good, the nation's world prestige is dropping and its domestic economy is threatened by inflationary Democratic spending.

This was the summation of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford as they ignited their "torch of dissent" to President Johnson's programs in a taped national broadcast Monday night.

Reviewing the world situation, Dirksen said that despite $120 billion spent on foreign aid, "our prestige on the world thermometer of good will has dropped fast and far."

He called for continuing war and peace efforts in Viet Nam. In each, he said, there can be "no substitute for victory" and withdrawal and no negotiation from weakness which "would mean defeat before we ever reached the negotiation table."

"Let the peace efforts continue," he said. "Let the military effort continue. Let it be intense."

fied if necessary, as sound military judgment dictates."

Ford denounced the "inflationary policies of the President" which he said had increased the cost of government $26 billion in two years. He called for sharp budget pruning of domestic programs he said would eliminate the need for $1 billion in new taxes Johnson has asked.

Democratic reaction was speedy.

House Speaker John W. McCormack said the Republicans were "a little presumptuous" in billing their effort as a GOP "State of the Union" message. It was the President's job to make such a report, he added.

However, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he is glad the Republican leadership "had a chance to deliver its message to the people of the United States."

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., a Senate Foreign Relations committee member, said Dirksen was "blowing both hot and cold" on Viet Nam while purporting to support the President.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert said, "If what we heard him (Ford) say tonight means that there's going to be an about-face in Republican voting on such crucial issues as education, health, and war on poverty, we can look forward to a very productive second session of the 89th Congress."

"If, on the other hand, all that we really saw and heard was an window-dressing intended to confuse the issue and conceal the Republicans' real record, then I think it was largely a waste of time."

Two brothers were injured in a single car accident on a black top road, four miles south of Charleston, Monday at 5:30 p.m.

A 1964 Chevrolet, driven by Michael Dugan, 17, route three, Charleston, failed to stop at a "T" intersection, ran off the road into a ditch and overturned, the state patrol reported. The driver received a possible head injury.

His brother, James M. Dugan, 14, route three Charleston, received possible broken ribs. Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Thompson to Join War on Poverty

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has announced the appointment of Charles Thompson, former city manager of Springfield, Mo., as state co-ordinator of programs in the war on poverty.

Thompson, with a salary of $15,000 annually, will serve under Philip V. Maher, head of the state's anti-poverty organization.

Maher said Thompson will help local groups interpret the Economic Opportunity Act and explain to them what aid they can get in fighting poverty on the local level.

NEW YORK AP -- Vincent J. Donohue, 50, who directed "The Sound of Music" and "Sunrise at Campobello" on Broadway, died Monday.

THE EAST PRAIRIE post office has won a prize for its beauty.

Postmaster Will Fly To Capital Tomorrow

EAST PRAIRIE -- Robert H. Hunter, 46-year-old postmaster, will leave the post office here--neat, trim and clean inside and out--tomorrow to receive a special citation in the nation's capital.

The East Prairie native, his wife, Roberta, a high school art teacher, and son, Kent, 16, will fly from Paducah, Ky., tomorrow to Washington, D.C.

They will be present in the post office department building there at 10 a.m. Thursday when Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien gives Hunter a special merit award, Hunter and 13 other postmasters will be recognized for their participation in President Lyndon B. Johnson's natural beauty program.

Hunter said that part of the citation was due to "flowers I purchased myself" for the outside of the East Prairie post office.

He also said that post office employees worked the grounds last summer to get them in shape.

A letter received by Hunter from the post office department reported that the award was for the spotless interior of the building as well as for the exterior and grounds. He won the citation for postal region eight, comprising Missouri, Iowa and Arkansas.

Flower bed arrangements, which adorn the grounds, will be continued next spring and summer. There will be an assortment of flowers in built-in boxes on the front of the building, which was completed in 1962.

Hunter became postmaster in May of that year but has worked in the post office here since 1938.

Sentencing of Three Postponed

NEW MADRID -- Formal sentencing of three men, convicted of armed robbery, assault and kidnapping of R. L. Richards, Matthews, has been postponed from today until next Tuesday.

Billie Joe Garrett was sentenced to 50 years, his brother, Lonnie Garrett, 30 years, and Sammie Irby, 40 years.

Richards was shot and wounded, when he was attacked near his home Oct. 22. Richards recovered from his wounds but lost the sight of an eye.

POSTMASTER ROBERT H. HUNTER, and Mrs. Hunter of East Prairie will fly to Washington, D.C. tomorrow. Hunter will receive a citation for post office beautification.

Charleston To Train 60

WASHINGTON -- Sixty unemployed or underemployed workers at Charleston, Mo., will receive 24 weeks training to become farm hand machinery operators and maintenance men. The course will be conducted by the public schools there.

The project was approved by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

The training will be under the manpower development and training act.

The Missouri Division of Employment Security will make referrals, which were established after it determined that there was reasonable expectation for employment of the graduates.

Trainees who meet the qualifications of the federal statute will draw training allowances.

U.S. Pulse Flutters -- GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Republican congressional leaders say the State of the Union is less than good, the nation's world prestige is dropping and its domestic economy is threatened by inflationary Democratic spending.

This was the summation of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford as they ignited their "torch of dissent" to President Johnson's programs in a taped national broadcast Monday night.

Reviewing the world situation, Dirksen said that despite $120 billion spent on foreign aid, "our prestige on the world thermometer of good will has dropped fast and far."

He called for continuing war and peace efforts in Viet Nam. In each, he said, there can be "no substitute for victory" no withdrawal and no negotiation from weakness which "would mean defeat before we ever reached the negotiation table."

"Let the peace efforts continue," he said. "Let the military effort continue. Let it be intensified if necessary, as sound military judgment dictates."

Ford denounced the "inflationary policies of the President" which he said had increased the cost of government $26 billion in two years. He called for sharp budget pruning of domestic programs he said would eliminate the need for $1 billion in new taxes Johnson has asked.

Democratic reaction was speedy.

House Speaker John W. McCormack said the Republicans were "a little presumptuous" in billing their effort as a GOP "State of the Union" message. It was the President's job to make such a report, he added.

However, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he is glad the Republican leadership "had a chance to deliver its message to the people of the United States."

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., a Senate Foreign Relations committee member, said Dirksen was "blowing both hot and cold" on Viet Nam while purporting to support the President.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert said, "If what we heard him (Ford) say tonight means that there's going to be an about-face in Republican voting on such crucial issues as education, health, and war on poverty, we can look forward to a very productive second session of the 89th Congress."

"It, on the other hand, all that we really saw and heard was window-dressing intended to confuse the issue and conceal the Republicans' real record, then I think it was largely a waste of time."

Oil Outlook Brighter in Mississippi County Search

CHARLESTON -- Oil and gas possibilities in Mississippi county, are reported by the drillers to be brighter. The first drilling project will be completed this week.

The wildcatting is by the Mammoth Producing Corporation, Clare, Mich., which has been in the region for a year, securing leases for more than 100,000 acres in the Pascola Arch basin.

The first drilling on the Big Oak Farms, owned by Hal Bogle, southeast of East Prairie, has showed signs of a porous rock structure that contains traces of oil.

The depth reached Monday was 4,310 feet. Drilling at this location will continue until the 5,100-foot mark is reached.

Signs of oil were found at 1,425 feet, a second pattern at 1,715 feet, and a third at 1,900 to 1,935 feet.

Another well is being started. It is located on the DeLaney farm, three miles east of Charleston on highway 60, 12 miles north of the first.

A third well will be started Jan. 19 on the Mounty Lavel farms, one mile from Wolf Island, also owned by Bogle.

Chinese Take Propaganda Edge in Cuba Conference

HAVANA (AP) -- Observers believe the Soviet-Chinese sparring at the recent Havana conference of revolutionaries from Asia, Africa and Latin America had little immediate effect on the Peking-Moscow struggle for leadership of world communism.

But they feel the Chinese emerged with a slight edge after many of the Chinese delegate's hardline words found their way into conference resolutions.

Peking representative Wu Hsueh-tien called for more "people's wars against U.S. imperialism and its lackeys" and accused the Soviet Union of taking a less belligerent approach because it fears a nuclear war.

He also charged the Soviets were cooperating with the United States in its "peace talk" intrigues on the Viet Nam question.

Among the Chinese statements that wound up in the conference's pronouncements was Wu's assertion that "U.S. imperialism is beset with tremendous difficulties both at home and abroad and is facing an imminent and deep crisis in all spheres."

Wu and the resolution said the United States "finds itself in an inextricable predicament and is being beaten everywhere, with total defeat awaiting it."

Observers believe that Cuba was the principal beneficiary in the propaganda field. Throughout the meeting it was referred to as "the scene of the first defeat of American imperialism in Latin America."

Caribbean Shrinks for U. S. Shrimp Fleet

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) -- The Caribbean grows ever smaller for America's shrimp fleet, caught in the web of U.S. relations with Latin America.

The detention of nine Tampa-based shrimp fishermen in Santa Lucia, Cuba, Sunday after one of their vessels grounded was another in a long series of troublesome incidents based more on politics than the ample natural hazards of shrimping.

The captain of one of the detained vessels told his owners by radiotelephone Monday they had been released.

American shrimpers have been conducted ashore in so many Latin American ports in the last 15 years that the U.S. government routinely handles their claims for reimbursements of fines and confiscated catches.

Under the federal Fishermen's Protective Act, "we lay out all the circumstances, substantiate it with receipts and what not, and a check comes down from the Treasury Department," said Oscar Longnecker of Brownsville, Tex., executive secretary of the Shrimp Association of the Americas.

Cuba under Fidel Castro, has become the newest obstacle to movement of the U.S. shrimp fleet in the Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico.

Some shrimp can be taken near Cuba's Isle of Pines, but the political risks all but eliminate the temptation to go there, says Bobby Canada of Tampa, a Singleton Shrimp Co. official.

This is not so in the rich shrimp fields of Caratasca Key, Honduras; Nicaragua and Campeche, off the western coast of Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula, Canada says.

Here the trouble lies in the varying limits of territorial waters -- nine miles in Mexico, 12 in Honduras, three in the United States and the continental shelf -- up to 35 miles -- in Nicaragua.

It also comes from competition among U.S.-based shrimp firms and firms in Honduras and Nicaragua owned by Americans who use political influence to keep American boats out of the shrimp grounds, a Tampa shrimp operator said.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Tuesday, January 18, 906 B.C. -- Miscogenes describes the octahedron in Athens, finds it quite interesting.

TONY YOU ARE WRONG!

We beg to disagree with Representative Heckmeyer about the poor showing the registered voters made. He said that the news media had failed to inform the people about the importance of the election.

Not only the news media but the electronic medium wore the people out with information about the importance of this election.

We believe that the people just don't give a damn who represents them for they are of the opinion that their taxes are going to be increased and that every screwball Bill introduced will be passed and that the Congress and legislatures are going to continue the discrimination against the white people and the business men and the property owner.

Bill Lewis says: "There are more important things in life than money, but they won't go out with you if you don't have any."

FALLACY

"Right To Work laws permit 'free riders' to reap the benefits of collective bargaining without paying their fair share of the cost of union representation. The union is required by Federal Law to bargain on behalf of all employees. Therefore, all employees should share the cost of that bargaining."

FACTS

"Thirty-five percent of the people of America do not belong to any church. They take a free ride on the moral and spiritual efforts and services of the churches. Yet I would not for a moment suggest enforced membership or enforced support of our churches. . . I am convinced that so-called Right To Work laws, such as ours in Indiana, are in the best longtime interest of the labor movement and the individual labor union member."

Dr. Richard C. Raines,
Methodist Bishop for Indiana

President Lyndon B. Johnson's State of Union speech will be a disappointment to many Americans simply because he couldn't offer more concrete hope for prospects for ending the war in Viet Nam. He should not be blamed for this.

In the foreign policy field, the address was nevertheless a masterpiece.

The American people should rally behind him and give him their support. He is doing his best in a difficult situation. He is determined not to surrender in Viet Nam.

On the domestic front, his address was controversial and has many flaws.

His aggressiveness in behalf of the Great Society program was surprising in view of predictions that this session of Congress could rest in their exertions from the tremendous production of the last one.

His argument in behalf of repeal of section 14b, the right to work provision, of the Taft-Hartley law was weak and misleading.

He said that the states, which have a right-to-work law on their books, should have the opportunity to join the ranks of those who don't.

This implies that a state operating without a right-to-work law is a paradise. That's not true. The 31 states should have the opportunity to join those states which have a right-to-work law.

The last Congress came to this sensible conclusion in refusing to deny the states this privilege.

His efforts to halt air and stream pollution will be supported by every thoughtful American.

His proposal to level the burgeoning slums of metropolitan centers and to replace them with modern structures with federal funds is an ambitious one.

The question remains whether the cities, the states or both couldn't finance these improvements and if they cannot whether now is the time to embark on another heavily expensive federal spending program.

Members of the House of Representatives should not be elected to serve four-year terms as the President suggests. This is contrary to the tradition and the history of the development of our form of government.

House members stand election every two years because the framers of the constitution wanted them to be responsive to the will of the people.

Senators were given longer terms because they were to be a deliberative body and more immune to the immediate pressures of campaigning.

The arrangement has served the country well. It should not be changed.

If the President wants more income he should ask for an increase in the federal income tax. The excise taxes should not be restored on new cars and telephone calls. They were only recently taken off although they were imposed as World War II measures.

Increasing the withholding tax of individuals and corporations is sensible. They have been set too low because of political considerations. This deludes the taxpayer into thinking that his taxes are cheaper than they are. The rude awakening comes when he pays his taxes. The present arrangement is stupid.

A cease fire on expansion of the Great Society program would be almost as welcome as cessation of hostilities with honor in Viet Nam.

Time is needed to perfect the maze of Great Society legislation passed in the last session. Unfortunately President Johnson doesn't see it that way and is determined to finance a war in Viet Nam, whose costs grow daily, and an expanding domestic social welfare program, whose costs also are mounting rapidly.

On to these costs the President would heap more and more domestic programs, which we don't like a damn bit.

The Exchange magazine reports that a decade ago, when the nation's population was about 165 million, Disposable Personal Income (which is personal income less federal, state and local taxes) amounted to $1,661 per person. So far this year it has been running at an annual rate of $2,314 per capita and the population is almost 194 million.

According to the $70,000-a-year AFL-CIO president, no importance would be attached to either (1) the right of the individual citizen to earn a livelihood without paying tribute to labor union czars or (2) the right of the people and their state legislatures to outlaw compulsory unionism by adopting Right To Work laws.

George Meany argued recently in a letter to all editors that these aforementioned rights are inferior to the "right" of the union hierarchy to force the U.S. Senate to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and thereby legalize compulsory unionism throughout the country. His demand for an immediate Senate vote on his radical and self-serving repeal bill cannot obscure the fact that just three months ago the Senate voted twice on this issue in response to the agitation of labor union professionals.

On October 8 the senators voted 94-0 against Majority Leader Mansfield's tabling motion. On October 11 an ill-fated attempt to choke off debate was supported by the votes of only 45 of 92 senators who were present and voting. The latter vote was especially galling to Mr. Meany because it belied his earlier published statements to the effect that a Senate majority wished to end debate.

The AFL-CIO president's seeming preoccupation with the "right to vote" principle is rank hypocrisy. He did not champion the "right to vote" when his underlings waged a two-year court battle in an effort to block a vote of the people of Oklahoma on a Right To Work proposal. Oklahoma is only one of more than 20 states in which Mr. Meany's subordinates have endeavored to stifle the "right to vote" by resorting to obstructionism, harassment, physical attacks and intimidation.

Mr. Meany is now demanding that Congress override the votes of the people who adopted Right To Work laws by state referendum.

He and his cohorts are trying to kill Section 14(b) because its repeal would automatically impose union membership on 250,000 working men and women who are shielded from compulsory unionism by 19 state Right To Work laws. The capture of 250,000 involuntary members would produce a minimum of $15 million annually for labor union coffers.

The current caterwauling of Mr. Meany reminds us of the sage observation by Abe Martin, the Hoosier philosopher:

"When a feller says, 'It hain't te' money but the principle o' th' thing'--it's th' money.'"

Ernest Harper says: "He and his wife like the same things. -- He likes to save it and she likes to spend it."

Retailers who classify all promotion as advertising could profit from the example of leading trade stamp companies.

Although trade stamps seem to be established as a feature of American retailing, the stamp cannot and should not replace regular item advertising. In fact, the trade stamp companies are themselves major newspaper advertisers.

One trade stamp company has spent thousands of dollars publicizing the fact that stamps are no substitute for advertising. The company claims that widespread usage of the stamps result in more advertising.

"Neither the consumer nor the retailer pays for trade stamps. Increased sales, derived from competitors and new consumers, more than pay the cost of stamps. The stamps are a form of discount given on the consumer level.

"Advertising still pre-sells customers. Trade stamps, like products and services, gives the retailer an additional feature to advertise," an official of the stamp company claims.

So long as housewives demand stamps with their purchases they will be given by retailers. But the retailer retains the responsibility of advertising his goods and services--including his policy on trade stamps.

A MOTORIST'S PRAYER

Father in Heaven--
Save me from the sins of carelessness or recklessness which endanger the lives of others.
Give me spiritual as well as physical controls of this machine;

Discipline my mind and body with the demands of divine love as revealed in Jesus Christ which say that I must love the other driver as I love myself.
Give me and all others on the road today such control of mind and body that this highway may be safe for children, men and women.

In the spirit of Jesus Christ,
I pray,
The Rev. Dr. W. Alfred Diman

The Missouri Highway Patrol reports that over the past three years 108 people have been killed in rural traffic accidents involving a motor vehicle with a train. Over 100 other people have received injuries from this type of accident.

In 1963, 40 people were killed at railroad crossings in rural Missouri. Thirty-four people lost their lives in both 1964 and 1965 in railroad grade crossing accidents.

Colonel E. L. (Mike) Hockaday, Superintendent of the Patrol, pointed out that railroad and traffic officials are jointly responsible for protecting grade crossings. Railroads require their trainmen to give an audible warning of their approach. In addition to the round-shaped approach signs and white crossbuck, heavily used grade crossings are protected by gates, flashing lights, bells or watchmen.

The Patrol Superintendent added that in spite of these safety devices, motorists either fail to notice these warnings or deliberately ignore them and almost always end up second

"The judgments of society are not necessarily consistent with scientific facts. Neither are they always logical. They can be, and sometimes are, arbitrary. Even so, neither the executive nor the legislative branches of the government can long ignore them. If it should become the overwhelming public view that society should drastically limit the risk no matter how much good a drug can do, then we would be forced to remove from the market many drugs whose good far outweighs their harm."

The crux of this statement is that the federal government may be basing its decision upon public opinion, however arbitrary.

"Continued failure of the driving public to accept individual responsibility for personal safety at highway railroad grade crossings is a primary cause for this type of accident," declared Colonel Hockaday. "The motorist often ignores the dangers at grade crossings because he feels that nothing can happen to him at such locations. He makes thousands of safe crossings without a close call or without ever seeing a train. Then the day comes when he reaches a crossing at the same time as a train, and he becomes a statistic."

"This is a good time for motorists to check their driving habits at grade crossings. A basic rule for survival at these intersections is to always watch for the round advance railroad warning sign wherever you drive. When you see it, slow down and be prepared to stop if a train is approaching," the Colonel concluded.

PRESCRIPTION FOR DISASTER

In recent testimony before a Congressional Committee that's looking into the way our drugs are being regulated, an official of the federal government's Food & Drug Administration made some alarming statements that concern all Americans. Referring to the influence of public opinion he said: "We (FDA) seek to make decisions about drugs solely on the basis of scientific considerations. But over a period of time the direction of Government's decisions will inevitably be influenced by public reaction. The public has developed a growing interest in drug matters. The public is making judgments."

"The judgments of society are not necessarily consistent with scientific facts. Neither are they always logical. They can be, and sometimes are, arbitrary. Even so, neither the executive nor the legislative branches of the government can long ignore them. If it should become the overwhelming public view that society should drastically limit the risk no matter how much good a drug can do, then we would be forced to remove from the market many drugs whose good far outweighs their harm."

The crux of this statement is that the federal government may be basing its decision upon public opinion, however arbitrary.

The personalities of the battle are bizarre, involving elder statesman Wright Patman of Texas, watchdog of the bankers, and dapper young Tom "Dud" Ashley of Toledo, Ohio, champion of the bankers. Both are Democrats.

This is a new role for Ashley, a champion of labor, a liberal legislator and a popular elder statesman at dinner parties. His sudden switch from pro-labor to pro-banker has his colleagues puzzled. Only clue is the fact that Lud's charming assistant, Kathleen Lucey, has a brother, Charles Emmett Lucey, who is a lobbyist for the bankers.

Lud is also one of the fastest moving cloak - and - dagger legislators on Capitol Hill and last fall pulled a sneak meeting of the Banking and Currency committee on the third Tuesday of October -- when a meeting was supposed to be held -- but when Chairman Patman had not called one and was absent. Before anyone could protest, Ashley, presiding over the rump session, gavelled approval of the Banking Merger bill.

Committee members have been rowing ever since as to whether Ashley's sneak meeting was legal. Many claim a quorum was not present, also that it was no way to take action on a bill which, if it becomes law, would affect the business of hundreds of American communities.

This week the battle gets hot again; in fact has already erupted at one secret caucus

In our democratic system, we must be able to trust our federal regulatory agencies. The staffs of these agencies should have knowledge far beyond that of the general public to help them make decisions on important issues. The FDA's apparent willingness, however reluctantly, to accept the idea of removing from the market drugs "whose good far outweighs their harm" is a matter of grave concern. Carried to its logical conclusion, we could on this basis lose penicillin, insulin and countless other lifesaving drugs. All potent medicines have serious side effects for some people. If we are to base medical decisions on the feelings of the public at large, the progress of medicine and the health of the nation will be placed in serious jeopardy. Similar concern was expressed to the same Congressional Committee by an executive of the American Pharmaceutical Association. He warned that "the hysteria of the moment about drug safety could develop into an unwritten protocol of indecisions and delay" on FDA approval of new drugs.

HOW BENEFITS BACKFIRE

One vice-president was telling another about the trouble he called to try to patch up a compromise.

MORE FIREWORKS

Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., a member of a Milwaukee banking family, who believes that banks cannot be exempt from the Antitrust laws, had been asked by Chairman Patman to work out a compromise. He proposed junking the Ashley bill in favor of a substitute which supported Supreme Court decisions against certain bank mergers but permitted mergers when they did not endanger banking competition and free enterprise.

In order to appease the dapper congressman from Toledo, however, Reuss proposed that the committee validate his sneak committee meeting. This, however, did not please the elder statesman from Texas.

"I am for the legislation you advocate," rumbled Patman, "but I'll never countenance a validation of the rump meeting. That I can't stomach."

"Well, I feel the same way about the substitute bill Henry proposed," snapped Ashley.

"We already have a legitimate bill before the Rules committee."

"That's the whole point of this discussion, Lud," Rep. Compton White, D-Idaho, challenged Ashley. "Some of us don't think your bill is legitimate. It was never officially approved by this committee. We're all wasting our time unless we agree on some kind of compromise."

While the Democrats were arguing, the American Bankers Association lobby was again busy trying to win votes. John Holton, ABA legislative counsel, sent the following telegram to a number of bankers in big cities and small towns:

"Rep. Reuss has suggested amendments to Ashley-Ottinger Bank Merger bill which are unacceptable. May I urge you to contact your member of Congress who is on House Banking and Currency Committee and urge his support of Ashley - Ottinger bill. Respectfully request you let me know of any pertinent response the congressman may make."

JOHNSON'S FRIEND

When Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen turned down an invitation to celebrate his birthday, Jan. 4, at the LBJ ranch, President Johnson protested: "I thought you were my friend."

"I am your friend," purred Dirksen in his most mellifluous manner. "You have no better friend in the United States, because it is my sworn mission in life to save you -- to save you from yourself."

KEY COMMITTEE TURNS

The Senate Democratic Policy committee, meeting behind closed doors, recently took up the question of whether to expand the Senate Finance committee by adding a few more easterners.

The only eastern Democrat on the committee is Connecticut's Sen. Abe Ribicoff. Pointing this out, someone remarked that the committee was overloaded with a surplus of southerners and midwesterners.

"The only surplus on the committee," retorted Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., "is a surplus of populists."

He was referring to the fact that, with the retirement of Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., control of the committee has passed for the first time to economic liberals.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., who succeeded Byrd as chairman, recalled a remark by the late Sen. George Norris of Nebraska that it would take 25 years to break the conservative hold on the economy, because that's how long it would take for the liberals to gain control of the Senate Finance committee.

The day Norris foresaw has now arrived.

UNNECESSARY AND WASTEFUL

The Research Director of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce has analyzed three spending proposals for public electric power projects in budget requests now pending before Congress -- and found them "completely unnecessary and wasteful". Moreover, these proposals have led the Council to question the "stern priorities" which the Administration claims to have applied to its budget.

The three projects vary greatly in size -- one is for $180,000, the second for $16,434,000, and the third is of major dimensions with an estimated cost of $122,000,000. But cost considerations aside, the Director found four characteristics common to them all: 1. each is an electric power transmission facility; 2. each is intended to replace private company electric service with federal service; 3. each would duplicate existing private company facilities with federal facilities; and 4. each would waste economic resources through higher cost power transmission than is available through private sources.

Take, as an example, the largest of these projects -- which, incidentally, was rejected by Congress last year. It consists of a high voltage line to run 500 miles from a government dam in Oregon to a point in Southeastern Idaho. The magnitude of the waste is underscored by the fact that two local power companies have agreed to wheel government power for $89 million less in 20 years than would be involved in the new federal line.

In the Director's opinion, these projects are inspired by "the zeal of bureaucrats for expanding their empires." They are part of the endless drive for more socialized power -- which undermines private investment, deprives government at all levels of the huge taxes private enterprise pays when it does the work, and on top of that, is usually taxpayer subsidized. An important part of Congress' job is to weed out such needless wastes when it considers the budget.

You men can attain valuable knowledge about how to dress -- and, as a matter of fact, how not to dress -- by the simple expedient of turning on the switch of your television set, or by going to your local movie house. The next thing to do then is -- pick out the men on the home or silver screen who most resemble you in size, build and type. (Come on, now, you're not all just like Cary Grant!) But suppose you're slim--like Dick Van Dyke -- follow his example of the type of clothes he wears, and how he wears 'em -- and you, too, will be a well-groomed man. Or if you are big and broad like James Garner; overweight like Jackie Gleason; extra tall like Bud Palmer--

The fascinating fact is that very few of the asserters and assumers and the believers in "truth by consensus vote" can answer the question "why," because the real answer would destroy their credibility completely. Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- The bitter battle over banking mergers resumes this week behind the closed doors of the House Banking and Currency committee.

The economics of the battle are tremendous, affecting the rights of banks to merge without prosecution by the Justice Department under the Antitrust laws. Billions of dollars, plus the control of newspapers, department stores and factories, are involved.

The personalities of the battle are bizarre, involving elder statesman Wright Patman of Texas, watchdog of the bankers, and dapper young Tom "Dud" Ashley of Toledo, Ohio, champion of the bankers. Both are Democrats.

This is a new role for Ashley, a champion of labor, a liberal legislator and a popular elder statesman at dinner parties. His sudden switch from pro-labor to pro-banker has his colleagues puzzled. Only clue is the fact that Lud's charming assistant, Kathleen Lucey, has a brother, Charles Emmett Lucey, who is a lobbyist for the bankers.

Lud is also one of the fastest moving cloak - and - dagger legislators on Capitol Hill and last fall pulled a sneak meeting of the Banking and Currency committee on the third Tuesday of October -- when a meeting was supposed to be held -- but when Chairman Patman had not called one and was absent. Before anyone could protest, Ashley, presiding over the rump session, gavelled approval of the Banking Merger bill.

Committee members have been rowing ever since as to whether Ashley's sneak meeting was legal. Many claim a quorum was not present, also that it was no way to take action on a bill which, if it becomes law, would affect the business of hundreds of American communities.

This week the battle gets hot again; in fact has already erupted at one secret caucus called to try to patch up a compromise.

Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., a member of a Milwaukee banking family, who believes that banks cannot be exempt from the Antitrust laws, had been asked by Chairman Patman to work out a compromise. He proposed junking the Ashley bill in favor of a substitute which supported Supreme Court decisions against certain bank mergers but permitted mergers when they did not endanger banking competition and free enterprise.

In order to appease the dapper congressman from Toledo, however, Reuss proposed that the committee validate his sneak committee meeting. This, however, did not please the elder statesman from Texas.

"I am for the legislation you advocate," rumbled Patman, "but I'll never countenance a validation of the rump meeting. That I can't stomach."

"Well, I feel the same way about the substitute bill Henry proposed," snapped Ashley.

"We already have a legitimate bill before the Rules committee."

"That's the whole point of this discussion, Lud," Rep. Compton White, D-Idaho, challenged Ashley. "Some of us don't think your bill is legitimate. It was never officially approved by this committee. We're all wasting our time unless we agree on some kind of compromise."

While the Democrats were arguing, the American Bankers Association lobby was again busy trying to win votes. John Holton, ABA legislative counsel, sent the following telegram to a number of bankers in big cities and small towns:

C. L. BLANTON, Jr., Managing Editor, Entered at the Postoffice of Sikeston, Scott County, Missouri as Second Class Mail Matter according to Act of Congress March 3, 1879, Saturday, February 4th, 1960.

TONY YOU ARE WRONG!

We beg to disagree with Representative Heckmeyer about the poor showing the registered voters made. He said that the news media had failed to inform the people about the importance of the election.

Not only the news media but the electronic medium wore the people out with information about the importance of this election.

We believe that the people just don't give a damn who represents them for they are of the opinion that their taxes are going to be increased and that every screwball Bill introduced will be passed and that the Congress and legislatures are going to continue the discrimination against the white people and the business men and the property owner.

Bill Lewis says: "There are more important things in life than money, but they won't go out with you if you don't have any."

FALLACY

"Right To Work laws permit 'free riders' to reap the benefits of collective bargaining without paying their fair share of the cost of union representation. The union is required by Federal Law to bargain on behalf of all employees. Therefore, all employees should share the cost of that bargaining."

FACTS

"Thirty-five percent of the people of America do not belong to any church. They take a free ride on the moral and spiritual efforts and services of the churches. Yet I would not for a moment suggest enforced membership or enforced support of our churches. I am convinced that so-called Right To Work laws, such as ours in Indiana, are in the best longtime interest of the labor movement and the individual labor union member."

Dr. Richard C. Raines,
Methodist Bishop for Indiana

President Lyndon B. Johnson's State of Union speech will be a disappointment to many Americans simply because he couldn't offer more concrete hope for prospects for ending the war in Viet Nam. He should not be blamed for this.

In the foreign policy field, the address was nevertheless a masterpiece.

The American people should rally behind him and give him their support. He is doing his best in a difficult situation. He is determined not to surrender in Viet Nam.

On the domestic front, his address was controversial and has many flaws.

His aggressiveness in behalf of the Great Society program was surprising in view of predictions that this session of Congress could rest in their exertions from the tremendous production of the last one.

His argument in behalf of repeal of section 14b, the right to work provision, of the Taft-Hartley law was weak and misleading.

He said that the states, which have a right-to-work law on their books, should have the opportunity to join the ranks of those who don't.

This implies that a state operating without a right-to-work law is a paradise. That's not true. The 31 states should have the opportunity to join those states which have a right-to-work law.

The last Congress came to this sensible conclusion in refusing to deny the states this privilege.

His efforts to halt air and stream pollution will be supported by every thoughtful American. His proposal to level the burgeoning slums of metropolitan centers and to replace them with modern structures with federal funds is an ambitious one.

The question remains whether the cities, the states or both couldn't finance these improvements and if they cannot whether now is the time to embark on another heavily expensive federal spending program.

Members of the House of Representatives should not be elected to serve four-year terms as the President suggests. This is contrary to the tradition and the history of the development of our form of government.

House members stand election every two years because the framers of the constitution wanted them to be responsive to the will of the people.

Senators were given longer terms because they were to be a deliberative body and more immune to the immediate pressures of campaigning.

The arrangement has served the country well. It should not be changed.

If the President wants more income he should ask for an increase in the federal income tax. The excise taxes should not be restored on new cars and telephone calls. They were only recently taken off although they were imposed as World War II measures.

Increasing the withholding tax of individuals and corporations is sensible. They have been set too low because of political considerations. This deludes the taxpayer into thinking that his taxes are cheaper than they are. The rude awakening comes when he pays his taxes. The present arrangement is stupid.

A cease fire on expansion of the Great Society program would be almost as welcome as cessation of hostilities with honor in Viet Nam.

Time is needed to perfect the maze of Great Society legislation passed in the last session. Unfortunately President Johnson doesn't see it that way and is determined to finance a war in Viet Nam, whose costs grow daily, and an expanding domestic social welfare program, whose costs also are mounting rapidly.

On to these costs the President would heap more and more domestic programs, which we don't like a damn bit.

The Exchange magazine reports that a decade ago, when the nation's population was about 165 million, Disposable Personal Income (which is personal income less federal, state and local taxes) amounted to $1,661 per person. So far this year it has been running at an annual rate of $2,314 per capita and the population is almost 194 million.

According to the $70,000-a-year AFL-CIO president, no importance would be attached to either (1) the right of the individual citizen to earn a livelihood without paying tribute to labor union czars or (2) the right of the people and their state legislatures to outlaw compulsory unionism by adopting Right To Work laws.

George Meany argued recently in a letter to all editors that these aforementioned rights are inferior to the "right" of the union hierarchy to force the U.S. Senate to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and thereby legalize compulsory unionism throughout the country.

His demand for an immediate Senate vote on his radical and self-serving repeal bill cannot obscure the fact that just three months ago the Senate voted twice on this issue in response to the agitation of labor union professionals.

On October 8 the senators voted 94-0 against Majority Leader Mansfield's tabling motion. On October 11 an ill-fated attempt to choke off debate was supported by the votes of only 45 of 92 senators who were present and voting. The latter vote was especially galling to Mr. Meany because it belied his earlier published statements to the effect that a Senate majority wished to end debate.

The AFL-CIO president's seeming preoccupation with the "right to vote" principle is rank hypocrisy. He did not champion the "right to vote" when his underlings waged a two-year court battle in an effort to block a vote of the people of Oklahoma on a Right To Work proposal. Oklahoma is only one of more than 20 states in which Mr. Meany's subordinates have endeavored to stifle the "right to vote" by resorting to obstructionism, harassment, physical attacks and intimidation.

Mr. Meany is now demanding that Congress override the votes of the people who adopted Right To Work laws by state referendum.

He and his cohorts are trying to kill Section 14(b) because its repeal would automatically impose union membership on 250,000 working men and women who are shielded from compulsory unionism by 19 state Right To Work laws. The capture of 250,000 involuntary members would produce a minimum of $15 million annually for labor union coffers.

The current caterwauling of Mr. Meany reminds us of the sage observation by Abe Martin, the Hoosier philosopher:

"When a feller says, 'It hain't te' money but the principle o' th' thing'--it's th' money."

Ernest Harper says: "He and his wife like the same things. -- He likes to save it and she likes to spend it."

Retailers who classify all promotion as advertising could profit from the example of leading trade stamp companies.

Although trade stamps seem to be established as a feature of American retailing, the stamp cannot and should not replace regular item advertising. In fact, the trade stamp companies are themselves major newspaper advertisers.

One trade stamp company has spent thousands of dollars publicizing the fact that stamps are no substitute for advertising. The company claims that widespread usage of the stamps result in more advertising.

"Neither the consumer nor the retailer pays for trade stamps. Increased sales, derived from competitors and new consumers, more than pay the cost of stamps. The stamps are a form of discount given on the consumer level.

"Advertising still pre-sells customers. Trade stamps, like products and services, gives the retailer an additional feature to advertise," an official of the stamp company claims.

So long as housewives demand stamps with their purchases they will be given by retailers. But the retailer retains the responsibility of advertising his goods and services--including his policy on trade stamps.

A MOTORIST'S PRAYER

Father in Heaven--
Save me from the sins of carelessness or recklessness which endanger the lives of others.
Give me spiritual as well as physical controls of this machine;

Discipline my mind and body with the demands of divine love as revealed in Jesus Christ which say that I must love the other driver as I love myself.
Give me and all others on the road today such control of mind and body that this highway may be safe for children, men and women.

In the spirit of Jesus Christ,
I pray. Amen.
The Rev. Dr. W. Alfred Diman

The Missouri Highway Patrol reports that over the past three years 108 people have been killed in rural traffic accidents involving a motor vehicle with a train. Over 100 other people have received injuries from this type of accident.

In 1963, 40 people were killed at railroad crossings in rural Missouri. Thirty-four people lost their lives in both 1964 and 1965 in railroad grade crossing accidents.

Colonel E. L. (Mike) Hockaday, Superintendent of the Patrol, pointed out that railroad and traffic officials are jointly responsible for protecting grade crossings. Railroads require their trainmen to give an audible warning of their approach. In addition to the round-shaped approach signs and white crossbucks, heavily used grade crossings are protected by gates, flashing lights, bells or watchmen.

The Patrol Superintendent added that in spite of these safety devices, motorists either fail to notice these warnings or deliberately ignore them and almost always end up second best in an encounter with a train. "Continued failure of the driving public to accept individual responsibility for personal safety at highway railroad grade crossings is a primary cause for this type of accident," declared Colonel Hockaday. "The motorist often ignores the dangers at grade crossings because he feels that nothing can happen to him at such locations. He makes thousands of safe crossings without a close call or without ever seeing a train. Then the day comes when he reaches a crossing at the same time as a train, and he becomes a statistic.

"This is a good time for motorists to check their driving habits at grade crossings. A basic rule for survival at these intersections is to always watch for the round advance railroad warning sign wherever you drive. When you see it, slow down and be prepared to stop if a train is approaching," the Colonel concluded.

PRESCRIPTION FOR DEASTERY

In recent testimony before a Congressional Committee that's looking into the way our drugs are being regulated, an official of the federal government's Food & Drug Administration made some alarming statements that concern all Americans.

Referring to the influence of public opinion he said: "We (FDA) seek to make decisions about drugs solely on the basis of scientific considerations. But, over a period of time the direction of Government's decisions will inevitably be influenced by public reaction. The public has developed a growing interest in drug matters. The public is making judgments.

"The judgments of society are not necessarily consistent with scientific facts. Neither are they always logical. They can be and sometimes are, arbitrary. Even so, neither the executive nor the legislative branches of the government can long ignore them. If it should become the overwhelming public view that society should drastically limit the risk no matter how much good a drug can do, then we would be forced to remove from the market many drugs whose good far outweighs their harm."

The crux of this statement is that the federal government may be basing its decision upon public opinion, however arbitrary.

rary or illogical that may be.

In our democratic system, we must be able to trust our federal regulatory agencies. The staffs of these agencies should have knowledge far beyond that of the general public to help them make decisions on important issues. The FDA's apparent willingness, however reluctantly, to accept the idea of removing from the market drugs "whose good far outweighs their harm" is a matter of grave concern. Carried to its logical conclusion, we could on this basis lose penicillin, insulin and countless other lifesaving drugs. All potent medicines have serious side effects for some people. If we are to base medical decisions on the feelings of the public at large, the progress of medicine and the health of the nation will be placed in serious jeopardy. Similar concern was expressed to the same Congressional Committee by an executive of the American Pharmaceutical Association. He warned that "the hysteria of the moment about drug safety could develop into an unwritten protocol of indecisions and delay" on FDA approval of new drugs.

UNNECESSARY AND WASTEFUL

The Research Director of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce has analyzed three spending proposals for public electric power projects included in requests now pending before Congress -- and found them "completely unnecessary and wasteful". Moreover, these proposals have led the Council to question the "stern priorities" which the Administration claims to have applied to its budget.

The three projects vary greatly in size -- one is for $180,000, the second for $16,434,000, and the third is of major dimensions, with an estimated cost of $132,000,000. KEY COMMITTEE TURNS

The Senate Democratic Policy committee, meeting behind closed doors, recently took up the question of whether to expand the Senate Finance committee by adding a few more easterners.

The only eastern Democrat on the committee is Connecticut's Sen. Abe Ribicoff. Pointing out this, someone remarked that the committee was overloaded with a surplus of southerners and midwesterners. "The only surplus on the committee," retorted Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., "is a surplus of populists."

He was referring to the fact that, with the retirement of Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., control of the committee has passed for the first time to economic liberals.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., who succeeded Byrd as chairman, recalled a remark by the late Sen. George Norris of Nebraska that it would take 20 years to break the conservative hold on the economy, because that's how long it would take for the liberals to gain control of the Senate Finance committee.

The day Norris foresaw has now arrived.

Betty Florence Davis Says Vows With Troy L. Fairhurst

ANNISTON -- Miss Betty Florence Davis became the bride of Troy Leon Fairhurst on Jan. 1, at 8 p.m., at the Baptist Church in Anniston. Rev. Joe Cleveland officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Miss Davis is the daughter of Mrs. Earline Davis and the late Raymond Davis of Anniston. Mr. Fairhurst is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fairhurst of East Prairie.

An arch entwined with greenery formed the background for the ceremony. On each side of the arch were large baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by Dr. T. P. Fenton, a close friend of the family. She wore a street-length wedding gown of satin. The bodice of French lace had sequins outlining the jewel neckline. Her long sleeves ended in lily points over the wrists. A flat bow of the satin was fastened at the back of the waistline and extended to the hem of her dress. She wore a fingertip-length veil of illusion, attached to a small jeweled crown. She carried a white Bible covered in lace and topped with a white orchid.

Miss Sharon Steward was pianist. She played "The Wedding March" and "A Dream of Love." Her dress and corsage was identical to that of the maid of honor.

Miss Sue Nolen of Charleston, the maid of honor, wore a red velvet dress with long sleeves and a velvet Dior bow with matching veil. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of white peppermint carnations.

Jan Rockett of East Prairie served as best man. Mike Davis, brother of the bride, and Tony Macko of Kansas City served as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship room.

The bride's mother wore an afternoon frock of beige lace over taffeta, with long sleeves and matching accessories. Her flowers were bronze pompons. The mother of the bridegroom wore a two-piece red knit suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of white peppermint carnations.

For the reception the bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth over red taffeta. Centering the table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. On each side were candelabra holding lighted red tapers. The cake was served with punch, mints and nuts by Sharon Steward, Yvonne Davis, Virginia Brack, Jeannie Thurman and Bobby Wicker.

After a short wedding trip, the young couple is now at home in Anniston. For traveling the bride wore a light blue knit two piece suit, with the white orchid from her corsage.

The bride attended schools in Anniston for 11 years and graduated from Charleston high school, class of 1965. The bridegroom attended East Prairie high school.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Charles B. Macko, aunt of the bride and son Tony of Kansas City and Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Johnson of St. Louis, sister of the bridegroom.

Hello! This Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. at the lanes the City Association Executive Committee will have its regular monthly meeting. All league presidents or their representatives and all league officers are members of this committee.

NEWCOMERS
Team no. 3-4 - Team no. 8-0;
Team no. 4-4 - Team no. 6-0;
Team no. 7-4 - Team no. 1-0;
Team no. 5-3 - Team no. 2-1.

As usual Doris Wylie took high game of 179 and series of 494. I was talking to her at the lanes last week and she said it was luck. I should be so lucky.

HOUSEWIVES
Ten Pins 4 - Town and Country 0; Strikers 3 - Whiffles 1; Pin Ups 3 - Road Runners 1; Hecklers 3 - Alley Cats 1.

A new member of this league set her average this past week, how about another high average set at 179? Lil Acord took high series with a 539 (she's the new one with the high average) just barely edging Jean Lee who rolled a 536 series. Jeanie took high game though with a 202.

IMPERIALETTES
Belltones 4 - Progressive 0; Kroger 3 - A & B 1; Crown 3 - L & A 1; Standard 3 - Deline 1; Flora Crouthers had high series with a 486 but Mary Meyers got going in her third game and rolled a 196.

1st. National Bank 4 - Busch 0; Bank of Sikeston 3 - Mutual of Omaha 1; C.D. Alcorn 3 - Deb Ellen 1; Lewis 3 - Puckett 1; Ferrell 2 - Holyfield 2.

Glenda Becker was really rolling Wednesday night. She took high game with a 220 and high series with a 553. Pretty good shooting gal.

FRIDAY BOWLETTES
Canvas 4 - I, S. C. No. 2-0; Ziegenhorn 3 - Hamby's 1; Shys 3 - Proffers 1; Vogue 2 - Medical Arts 2; Rudys 2 - I, S. Co. no. 3-2.

E. P. Coleman team and I. S. Co. No. 1 will bowl later.

Vera Gaston had a 504, Erma Wilson a 507 but Thelma Hampton took high with a 563. Thelma also took high game with a 222. She bowls with the Hamby team and they set a new team high game with an 800. They were bowling against us and we came back in the second game with a 796 to take second place. Ziegenhorn also set a new team three game series with 2285 and Hamby's took second high with a 2225. We had told Dorothy Pratt we expected a 500 series from her Friday night because she had on Wednesday night and I must say she tried, she had a 499.

Betty Florence Davis Says Vows With Troy L. Fairhurst

ANNISTON -- Miss Betty Florence Davis became the bride of Troy Leon Fairhurst on Jan. 1, at 8 p.m. at the Baptist Church in Anniston. Rev. Joe Cleveland officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Miss Davis is the daughter of Mrs. Earline Davis and the late Raymond Davis of Anniston. Mr. Fairhurst is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fairhurst of East Prairie.

An arch entwined with greenery formed the background for the ceremony. On each side of the arch were large baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons.

The bride was escorted down the white-carpeted aisle by Dr. T. P. Fenton, a close friend of the family. She wore a street-length wedding gown of satin. The bodice of French lace had sequins outlining the jewel neckline. Her long sleeves ended in lily points over the wrists. A flat bow of the satin was fastened at the back of the waistline and extended to the hem of her dress. She wore a fingertip-length veil of illusion, attached to a small jeweled crown. She carried a white Bible covered in lace and topped with a white orchid.

Miss Sharon Steward was pianist. She played "The Wedding March" and "A Dream of Love." Her dress and corsage was identical to that of the maid of honor.

Miss Sue Nolen of Charleston, the maid of honor, wore a red velvet dress with long sleeves and a velvet Dior bow with matching veil. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of white pepper-mint carnations.

Jan Rockett of East Prairie served as best man. Mike Davis, brother of the bride, and Tony Macko of Kansas City served as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship room.

The bride's mother wore an afternoon frock of beige lace over taffeta, with long sleeves and matching accessories. Her flowers were bronze pompons. The mother of the bridegroom wore a two-piece red knit suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of white pepper-mint carnations.

For the reception the bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth over red taffeta. Centering the table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. On each side were candelabra holding lighted red tapers. The cake was served with punch, mints and nuts by Sharon Steward, Yvonna Davis, Virginia Brack, Jeannette Thurman and Bobby Wicker.

After a short wedding trip, the young couple is now at home in Anniston. Following the bride wore a light blue knit two-piece suit, with the white orchid from her corsage. Missouri Valley Scoring By Sophomores

This is expected to be a big year for sophomores in Missouri Valley basketball and the rookies have lived up to their press clippings.

Four of the Valley's top 10 scorers are sophomores, with Bradley's 6-foot-7 Joe Allen second at 19.5, Louisville's 6-8 Westley Unseld fifth with an 18.6 average, Louisville's 6-3 Fred Holden seventh at 16.6 and Tulsa's 6-foot Eldridge Webb 10th with 15.1.

Unseld is the Valley leader in rebounds with an 18.5 average, second in the nation. Allen is fifth in Valley field shooting at .549. Holden is second in free throw accuracy with .971 and Webb is fourth at .765.

Jamie Thompson of Wichita strengthened his hold in the scoring lead with a 23.2 average. The 6-3 Thompson also is second in field accuracy with .579 and third in foul shooting with .854.

Other scorers in the top 10 are Don Rolfe of Cincinnati with 19.1, Rich Parks of St. Louis 18.6, Willie Davis of North Texas 17.0, Bob Netolicky of Drake 16.7, and Roland West of Cincinnati 16.4.

Tulsa's deadly pair, Julian Hammond and Gene Demaree, stayed on top in the two shooting categories. Hammond increased his field shooting percentage to .659, hitting 87 of 132 shots for the season. Demaree has missed only one foul shot in 34 attempts for a .971 average.

Davis is the Valley's no. 2 rebounder with a 12.6 average followed by Parks 11.6, Netolicky 11.0, West 10.2 and Allen 10.1.

In field shooting the other leaders are Mike Rolfe of Cincy .565, teammate Rolfe .563, Sherman Dillard of Tulsa .547, Davis .539 and Netolicky .508.

Also high in foul shooting are Tom Campbell of Bradley .754, Ron Miller of North Texas .750, Alex McNutt of Bradley .734 and Rolfe .691.

In the team figures, it's Wichita 88.3, Bradley 82.9 and Cincinnati 82 on offense. Drake leads in defense at 65.2, Tulsa has 66.5 and St. Louis 69.8. Wichita is last in defense, Cincinnati has the best average point spread with 11.5 to Bradley's 10.7.

Cincinnati leads in field shooting with .496, Tulsa in foul shooting with .713.

Kansas, Nebraska Match Perfect Records Tonight

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer
Sixth-ranked Kansas and ambitious Nebraska match perfect Big Eight basketball records tonight at Lincoln, Neb. In the first major showdown of the league title race.

"This isn't a two-team race," said Kansas coach Ted Owens, mindful of his team's upcoming scrape with Kansas State at Lawrence, Kan., Saturday.

"It's important, though, because the winner will be breaking the loser's momentum. It would certainly be a nice one to win."

Kansas is 4-0 in the league and has won eight games in a row, including vital Big Eight road games at Colorado and Iowa State, for a 13-2 season mark.

Nebraska stands 3-0 and 11-2, with important road victories at Iowa State and K-State. The Huskers have lost only once in their last 10 games, that by 71-61 to Kansas in the finals of the league tourney.

The Huskers are a different team now. Willie Campbell, their tallest starter at 6-6, is in top form. He didn't play against Kansas because of an ankle injury. He is quick and an excellent shooter.

Nebraska will be playing before a rare sell-out home crowd of 9,000 in its Coliseum, and this worries coach Joe Cipriano.

"The boys tend to get a little over-anxious at home because we always want to look so good the people will come back and see us again," he said. "I'm not talking about our title chances. I'm just looking for victory no. 13. That would assure Nebraska's first winning season since 1950."

Nebraska hasn't beaten Kansas in Lincoln since 1958, a major upset over Wilt Chamberlain and Co.

Tex Winter, veteran K-State coach, has no doubts Nebraska is a top team. The Huskers clipped K-State 82-71 at Manhattan Saturday.

"They explode out of the break about as well as any team I've ever seen in this league," Winter said. "They're a good club, for sure."

K-State and Oklahoma are tied for third at 2-1. Colorado is second at 2-2 by beating Monday State 71-63 at Boulder Monday night with senior Chuck Gardner and sophomore Mike Rebeck scoring 15 each. Jack Erfert and Jack Lintz held Iowa State's Don Smith to just seven points. Bob Ziegler led Iowa State with 19.

Iowa State now stands 1-4. In the only other game, K-State beat the Mexico Olympic team 84-64 at Manhattan with Ron Paradis hitting 16. The game doesn't count in the records for K-State, under Big Eight and NCAA rules.

Kentucky Moves Up On Duke In AP Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The competition between the Duke Blue Devils and the Kentucky Wildcats for first place in The Associated Press major college basketball poll has reached the climactic stage with Duke clinging precariously to its slim lead.

Neither is scheduled to play this week because of midyear examinations. Undefeated Kentucky is idle until Jan. 24 when it takes on Louisiana State while Duke takes a longer rest before meeting North Carolina State Jan. 29.

In the balloting by a special panel of 41 regional experts, Duke polled 388 points, only three more than the Wildcats. The Blue Devils had 24 first-place votes to Kentucky's 17. The voting is based on games through last Saturday.

St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania was third with 323 points followed by Providence with 231, Vanderbilt with 212 and Kansas, 168. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

Kentucky, which trailed Duke by 40 points in last week's poll, closed the gap after beating Vanderbilt 96-83 to take over the Southeastern Conference lead. The Wildcats are 12-0.

Duke, 14-1, won three games last week, beating Clemson 87-

85, Maryland 76-61 and Wake Forest 101-81.

St. Joseph's advanced one place to third. The J's whipped Wake Forest 97-72 for an 11-2 mark. Providence defeated Rhode Island and Boston College, advancing two places to fourth. Vanderbilt, 14-2, slipped from third to fifth.

The Top Ten, with win-loss records through games of Saturday, Jan. 15, and total points:

1. Duke	14-1	388
2. Kentucky	12-0	385
3. St. Joseph	11-2	323
4. Providence	12-1	231
5. Vanderbilt	14-2	212
6. Kansas	13-2	168
7. Bradley	14-2	160
8. Texas Wes.	12-0	134
9. Chicago. Loy.	12-1	43
10. UCLA	10-4	31

Others receiving votes were Nebraska, Cincinnati, Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

Hawks Win At Memphis Kerneke Expected To Play First

The St. Louis Hawks, seemingly carried away with Southern hospitality in previous appearances at Memphis this season, have finally won in that Tennessee city.

St. Louis, which made opponents feel more than welcome by losing its three previous games at the Hawks' home-away-from-home, came back from a 52-47 halftime deficit and beat the New York Knicks 115-106 in the only National Basketball Association action Monday night.

For a time it looked like the Hawks, who still have four games to play in Memphis, once again were going to disappoint their Tennessee fans, but they caught fire in the third quarter and then beat back a New York rally in the fourth for the victory.

Mantle At Mayo Clinic

ROCHESTER, Minn. AP -- Mickey Mantle could wind up his major league baseball career playing first base for the New York Yankees, depending upon what Mayo Clinic doctors learn is wrong with his ailing right shoulder.

Mantle arrived here Monday for three days of examination, tests and possible treatment of his shoulder and legs, which hampered his outfield play greatly in 1965.

The shoulder is Mantle's biggest worry. He has played on painful legs much of his 15-year American League career.

"It doesn't pain me," he said of the shoulder, "but I can hardly lift it. I can't put anything on a throw."

The Mayo examination apparently will determine whether surgery can alleviate the shoulder trouble, or if it is just a symptom of age. Mantle was 34 last Oct. 20.

Because of the shoulder, the Yankees may try to convert the great outfielder into a first baseman, a position Mantle has been reluctant to assume in the past. Now, however, he admits he's giving it some serious thought.

"I've never tried first base," he said, "but if I can't throw and they want me to try it, I'll give it a try."

Such a move would send Joe Pepitone to the outfield, a position he has played for the Yankees.

Poplar Bluff Tournament Results

POPLAR BLUFF -- In first round play of the Poplar Bluff Invitational last night Kennett beat off a stubborn Clearwater team 64-43, and Malden raced past Greenville 66-54.

Kennett after trailing the first quarter of play held their opponents to seven points the second quarter while scoring 22 of their own to take the lead for the rest of the game.

Malden after trailing the first half scored 40 points the second half while holding Greenville to only 27 points, went on to win and move into the semi-finals.

SCORING:

NCAA Committee To Study Closed Circuit T. V.

NEW ORLEANS, La. AP -- The NCAA Football Rules Committee has set up a subcommittee to study the use of closed-circuit television and other video devices as coaching aids while a game is in progress.

Ivy Williamson, chairman of the full committee, said Monday the subcommittee had not been given any definite date to report recommendations.

Williamson, athletic director at Wisconsin, named John Wal-

MOPAC Seeks to Operate Barge Line

ST. LOUIS, Mo., AP — Missouri Pacific Railroad President Downing B. Jenks said today that the Mo. Pac. plans to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to operate a barge line.

Jenks said the application will ask for rights to operate a barge line to any inland waterway port served by the Mo. Pac. He said this would include points on the Missouri River as far north as Omaha, Neb.; cities on the Mississippi River from St. Louis to New Orleans and several Gulf Coast ports.

He said cities on the Arkansas River also would be included in the request.

ONIONS AFFINITY
Knowing how to use onions is extremely important in good cooking. A glance through your favorite cookbook will reveal that few recipes, apart from desserts, do not include at least a suspicion of onions.

The onion stands supreme as the one vegetable which has a natural affinity for all meats, fish, poultry, eggs, vegetables, and many fruits.

Soups, chowders, dips, spreads, salads, dressings, stews, hams, roasts, casseroles, gravies, pot pies, stuffings and relishes, all demand the onion as a prime ingredient.

Onions are used in many forms, depending upon the recipe. Sliced, grated, diced, chopped, separated into rings or whole, the onion lends a subtle or distinct flavor note to any meal. But these handy vegetables are not limited to conformation dishes. When eaten fried, steamed, baked or broiled, the onion always serves to enhance the bill of fare.

And great onion eating should be in store during these cold, January days. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service, the late summer onion crop, which will be the source of supply until spring,

THE AMERICAN WAY To Jobs-Peace-Democracy

DRAFT PROGRAM OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY
Church League of America
422 N. Prospect St. Wheaton, Ill.

V. The Communist Program Against Depression—For Jobs, Peace, Democracy. (Cont.)

2. Spend for Human Welfare, not Warfare; for Homes and Schools, not Bombs and Battleships!

The Government has the responsibility to guarantee jobs and living standards. The giant plants which have been erected for the production of planes, tanks, atom and hydrogen bombs for war, need not be shut down. They can be converted to peacetime uses. For example, the giant war-time aircraft plants can be converted into huge factories for producing pre-fab homes on an assembly line basis. A Government-supported program of this kind can produce a minimum of 1,500,000 additional modern private dwellings a year. This would help wipe out the rat-infested fire-traps in which so many of our people live and die. The Government which built these giant war producing plants with the people's money must guarantee their continued operation, but for peaceful purposes. If private industry cannot or will not do so, the Government can and must!

We propose a substantial increase in unemployment and old-age benefits; special measures to keep our youth from becoming a jobless generation and to guarantee all our youth free and equal educational opportunities; a federal health program; and a large-scale federal program of flood control, conservation, power dam development and rural building.

3. End the "Cold War" and Promote Friendship and Trade! There can be no hope for a lasting peace and world disarmament without accepting the principle of peaceful coexistence between the capitalist U. S. A. and the socialist Soviet Union. This is necessary whether one agrees or disagrees with socialism, whether one likes or dislikes the Soviet Union.

Peaceful coexistence does not preclude, but includes, a peaceful competition between the different social systems. It does exclude, however, a settlement by force of arms of the dispute as to which social system is superior.

To ease world tension and to restore the United Nations as an instrument for lasting peace we propose:

A return to President Roosevelt's policy of big power negotiation and agreement. This must include People's China, the established and effective government of the great Chinese nation.

An end to the arms race and to the policy of encircling the globe with U. S. military bases. What is needed is a world ban on the use of all atomic weapons and an agreement for a drastic reduction in all types of armaments. We oppose the militarization of our youth and Universal Military Training.

The widest promotion of peaceful world trade. Our country, in its own interests, must take advantage of the immense markets for American goods available in the Soviet Union, China and Eastern Europe. These markets can provide millions of jobs for American workmen for years to come. We favor the extension of credit to bolster world trade and to help overcome the hunger and underdevelopment of the colonial lands. The colonial and semi-colonial countries need machine tools, agricultural implements and farm products. But they rightfully reject fraudulent "Point 4" programs which aim at robbing them of their natural resources and keeping them as backward hinterlands.

An end to the policy of re-militarizing Germany and Japan. The lessons of World War II prove that re-militarized Germany is a threat to world peace and to the security of the U. S. We stand for a united, democratic and peaceful Germany.

When the man from Gemini first walked in space, all America watched and talked. But can you remember even now who he was? No intervention in the internal affairs of other nations and the recognition of the right of all nations to govern themselves. This means an end to the Dulles policy of instigating civil wars in other countries and of aiding the oppressors of the colonial peoples of India-China and of all Africa and Asia. This means hands off Guatemala. We favor the right of full and unconditional independence for Puerto Rico; full equality and democratic rights for Hawaii; and complete political and economic freedom for the Philippines. The right of all nations to restrict and control all foreign investments on their territories should be recognized and respected. We favor a policy of the good neighbor to the Latin American lands and to all nations.

4. Defend and Strengthen Democracy!

We call for the defense of the Constitution and its Bill of Rights, for an end to the "dictatorship of fear," and for a turning back of the evil tide of McCarthyism. This requires the defense of the constitutional rights of all, including the Communists. To deny the Communists their constitutional rights is the first step to denying these rights for all Americans. This is the lesson of Nazi Germany. It is the lesson of the witch-hunt in this country. Labor leaders and former New Dealers are learning that they cannot obtain immunity from the witch-hunters by crawling on their knees and Red-baiting. In the words of Benjamin Franklin, "They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."

We urge an end to the witch-hunting, the abolition of all Congressional witch-hunt committees, and a halt to the Gestapo-like political activities of the FBI. Political arrests and deportations must cease. Amnesty must be granted to Eugene Dennis, Benjamin J. Davis, Gus Hall, and the other Communist leaders and victims of McCarthyism. The attempts to outlaw the Communist Party and to deprive Communists of their citizenship rights must be defeated. The Smith and McCarran Acts should be repealed.

Labor's right to organize and strike must be protected and all anti-labor legislation such as the infamous Taft-Hartley Act must be repealed and defeated. Strike-breaking by court injunctions or government decrees should be stopped.

Academic freedom and freedom of inquiry should be restored for America's youth. Young people should be given the right to vote at 18. The time has come to end book-burning and know-nothingism, to put a stop to the cult of violence in our movies, TV and literature, and to promote culture for peace and democracy. (To be continued)

GOBS OF GRAPES
Midwest produce counters are bedecked with a brightly-hued assortment of fresh grapes, conveniently plentiful right now, for mid-winter menu planning.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service, this abundance results from California's record large 1965 production.

With all these grapes to choose from, how do you select the best grapes from the cluster? C&M's folks advise that to obtain high quality grapes: Pick those that are mature, denoted by their plumpness, have a fresh appearance, and have berries firmly attached to the stem.

High color, a characteristic of the variety, usually indicates a well-developed sugar content, and flavor. Stem condition gives an indication of freshness, as grapes with dry, brittle stems usually lack freshness and are susceptible to shattering.

Once you've selected your grapes, storing them is extremely important. C&M suggests you keep them in a cool dry place. Small quantities can be kept satisfactorily in the refrigerator for several days.

European grape varieties, such as Emperor, Ribiers and Almeria, all of which are plentiful right now.

School Director Announcement

We are authorized to announce as a candidate subject to the will of the voters in the R-2 School District, of the School Election, on Tuesday, April 5th, 1966:

For Director: Lee Austin Bowman, 4 Bel Air.

Armed Forces

BLITHEVILLE AFB, ARK. -- Airman First Class Frederick M. Fritts, assigned to the Headquarters Squadron of the 97th Bomb Wing, received his oath of re-enlistment into the U. S. Air Force yesterday, in a slightly different manner.

From the aircraft commander's seat aboard a Cessna 172, he was administered the oath by Captain Ronald R. Myers, 340th Bomb Squadron, while soaring at an altitude of 1,500 feet.

With his re-enlistment completed, Airman Fritts became the sole holder of a two-fold honor.

He became the first Blitheville AFB Aero Club man to receive his oath of re-enlistment at such altitudes, and was also the first man at this installation to receive the new "variable" re-enlistment bonus.

Captain Myers entered the picture in 1964 when he became Airman Fritts' flying instructor.

If current plans hold true, Airman Fritts plans to enter the Airman's Education and Commissioning Program soon.

THE PRAYER

For Today From The Upper Room

The life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me. (Galatians 2:20)

PRAYER: Awaken us to our troubled world, O Lord. Help us to meet each challenge with personal strength and the group strength of Thy church. In our Redeemer's name we ask, Amen.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter from "No Talent Thelma" whose husband annoyed her during the night by cracking his knuckles and toes. I don't want to make more trouble for this couple than they already have (because it sounds as if they have enough), but I was once married to a man who kept me up until dawn for six years. He insisted he was cracking his jaws in his sleep and couldn't help it, but one night I caught him. The son-of-a-gun was actually trying to drive me out of my mind with a dim-store noise-maker that kids use at birthday parties.

The judge decided my husband was guilty of mental cruelty and I was granted a divorce. So tell Thelma to keep an eye on her husband. She may learn something. -- RID OF HIM AND GLAD OF IT

Dear Rid and Glad: Your ex-husband is my personal candidate for the Meanest Man Alive Award of 1966. And if it's any consolation to you, the old son-of-a-gun didn't get much rest in those six years himself.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been reading your column and laughing at it for a long time. Now it is your turn to read and laugh.

I am 16 and Jim is 17. I am just plain squirrely over him and I know he feels the same about me because he has told me so many times. When we are together and nobody else is around Jim is just as sweet and tender as a fellow could possibly be. But the minute we get with other people he gives me the big freeze and even becomes insulting.

I don't expect him to kiss my feet in public but I do expect him to be decent to me and not act as if I was something that had been washed up on the beach.

What goes on anyway? Why is he like this? -- G. S. J.

Dear G. S. J.: A boy of 17 should not be so self-conscious about his feelings that he has to mask them by insulting you.

I am not suggesting that Jim should make a public declaration of his devotion, but if he can't treat you decently, tell him to get lost.

Dear Ann Landers: I have no one to turn to with this problem. My mother is dead and my father is not a person I can talk to.

I have a wonderful boyfriend. Rolfe is in the service and I spend about two evenings a week with his stepmother. Sometimes I go to her place for supper or she comes to mine. Once in a while we eat downtown. She is a pleasant person and I enjoy her company.

Lately money has been missing from my wallet. It seems that I wind up short about $5 every time I spend an evening with Rolfe's stepmother. I couldn't believe she would steal from me but last night I found her rummaging through my purse when she thought I had gone to the bathroom. Should I talk to her about it? Would it be best if I stopped seeing her? Advise me please. This is making me sick. --STILL SHAKING

Dear Shaking: Tell the woman you have been losing money out of your purse due to carelessness. Ask her if she has ever had a similar problem and if so, how she dealt with it.

This woman sounds severely disturbed. Cut down your visits but continue to be friendly. In the meantime, tuck your wallet inside your girdle when you are with her.

No teenager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL

PILOT SALE HELD FOR NEW STATE ID CARDS

The recent pilot sale of state identification cards in Fulton by the Liquor Control Department is being analyzed for causes and remedies of any problems, before the new identification cards will be available to people throughout the state.

The purpose of the cards, according to Glenn Morran, department, "is to establish age legality promptly and accurately." In a sense, such a card will let a liquor seller or bartender "off the hook," if, in good faith, he sells liquor to a young - appearing person who displays a state card.

The pilot sale will also determine whether it might be feasible to hire people just for the purpose of taking applications and running the camera equipment. Because of the birth credentials required, it might be necessary for an agent to be on hand to decide questionable cases. A roving crew from the department is another possibility.

The application procedure starts like this: A Missouri-born applicant brings his birth certificate and a money order to the Department of Revenue for $1.50, (the cost of the card) -- the Department will not accept checks or cash) to the processing point. Processing will probably be done at the County Courthouse, Police Department, District Liquor Control office (there are six in the state) or Sheriff's office.

Next, a typist will fill out an application while two photos of the person are taken simultaneously by a special Polaroid-equipped camera. The forms, photos and money order then are sent to Jefferson City, where the birth certificate is checked out for validity with the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

The Department hopes to have the laminated card, which has a number of state seal designs embossed on its face, back to the applicant within three days.

Problems were anticipated in the case of applicants who were born out of state or out of the country. Such applicants must bring not only the $1.50 money order for the card, but also another money order made out to the Department of Health of their home state for a birth certificate copy.

The amount of this additional cost, which ranges from no charge in some states to $2 in others, is on file with the Department. The time element involved in the mailing between states will cause some delay. Despite the expense and inconvenience of getting a birth certificate, the Department feels the procedure is a good security provision.

Other problems are anticipated where birth certificates are not available. In such cases, other certification documents will be accepted, subject to the approval of the Department. Foreign-born applicants, for example, would have to present passport, visa or immigration papers or other legal documents.

After the card is sent to the applicant, a copy of the application and the second photo will be kept on file in Jefferson City. The card itself will contain a "mug shot" with an identification number on it which corresponds with a pre-printed serial number in the upper right hand corner of the card.

The success of such identification cards will depend on cooperation from retailers and law enforcement, the Department said. Posters, for example, will be displayed and help to relieve the licensee of liability. Such posters say that the business will accept only state identification cards as evidence of age.

Although such a program is new to Missouri, some 17 other states have similar programs and only one has dropped it. So far, the Department has been allotted some $20,000 for equipment and another $3,000 for supplies for the program. Expense of the program for the first year has been estimated at $56,800 -- which includes personnel and operational expenses -- and is based on a 50,000 response.

According to the 1960 census, the Department estimated that 55,000 Missourians would be eligible (21 years old) by January 1, 1966. Those who might be interested in such a card could range in age from 21 to 25, the Department pointed out.

RECENTLY my wife was showing a guest how she takes care of her potted Easter lilies. As she deftly snipped off the yellow stamens, she explained that this prevented the plants from fertilizing and made the blooms last longer. "Ah," said our friend, "I understand. You're gelding the lily!"

White House Wit

John F. Kennedy President, 1961-1963

"Those of you who regard my profession of political life with some disdain should remember that it made it possible for me to move from being an obscure lieutenant in the United States Navy to Commander-in-Chief in fourteen years with very little technical competence."

"What are we going to do with the Republicans? They can point to Benjamin Harrison, who according to legend saw a man forced by the depression to eat grass on the White House lawn and had only one suggestion for him-- that he go around to the back where the grass was longer."

Barry Goldwater is an excellent photographer. He once took a good picture of President Kennedy and sent it to him for an autograph. The picture came back with this inscription: "For Barry Goldwater, whom I urge to follow the career for which he has shown so much talent- photography. From his friend, John Kennedy."

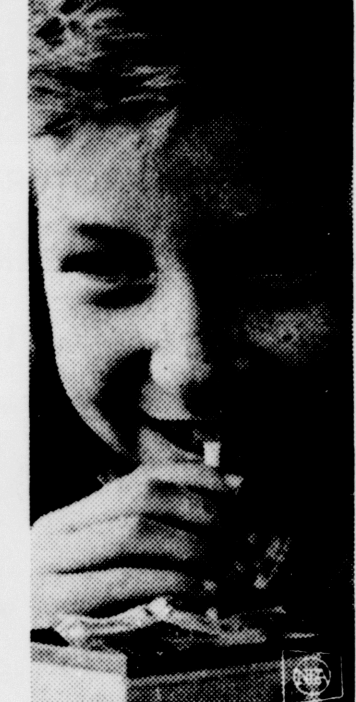

We used to settle our problems over coffee and cigarettes. Now they're our problems.

Ten years ago -- Twenty-five persons were killed in the explosion of the tanker Salem Maritine at Lake Charles, La.

Five years ago -- President Dwight D. Eisenhower held his last White House news conference; he urged an earlier date for inauguration of presidents.

One year ago -- Leaders of European Communist countries met in Warsaw for a Warsaw pact conference.

White House Wit

John F. Kennedy, President, 1961-1963

"Those of you who regard my profession of political life with some disdain should remember that it made it possible for me to move from being an obscure Lieutenant in the United States Navy to Commander-in-Chief in fourteen years with very little technical competence."

"What are we going to do with the Republicans? They can point to Benjamin Harrison, who according to legend saw a man forced by the depression to eat grass on the White House lawn and had only one suggestion for him-- that he go around to the back where the grass was longer."

Barry Goldwater is an excellent photographer. He once took a good picture of President Kennedy and sent it to him for an autograph. The picture came back with this inscription: "For Barry Goldwater, whom I urge to follow the career for which he has shown so much talent-- photography. From his friend, John Kennedy."

We used to settle our problems over coffee and cigarettes. Now they're our problems.

7,000 More in VietNam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) -- Seven thousand more U.S. fighting men poured into South Viet Nam today to strengthen Saigon's defenses against guerrilla attack and to put more muscle in the Marine beachhead on the central coast.

Although the Viet Cong forces avoided major action in advance of the lunar New Year celebrations later this week, guerrilla lands harassed government positions, exploded mines, tossed grenades and ambushed militia platoons. An orphanage was hit in one attack, apparently by mistake.

Political infighting among South Viet Nam's military leaders again raised fears of trouble for the seven-month-old government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. He was reported to have told a battalion of army troops at Saigon airport Monday that "5 to 50" generals were seeking to overturn his regime.

Rumors of an impending coup swept Saigon over the weekend during the visit of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Most of the country's top military leaders were in Saigon at the time. The rumors subsided later.

The new American arrivals were 4,000 infantrymen of the U.S. 25th Division's 2nd Brigade from Hawaii and 3,000 Marines from Okinawa. They brought total American troop strength in South Viet Nam to 191,000 men.

A U.S. spokesman announced earlier that 4,500 Marines had landed but later said he had counted one battalion twice.

The Viet Cong before dawn fired mortars at a U.S. military compound in Quang Ngai City, 325 miles northeast of Saigon. The shells fell into a nearby orphanage and a Vietnamese regimental headquarters. Five children and three Vietnamese civilian caretakers at the orphanage were wounded. None of the 200 Americans was hurt, but an unofficial report said two Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 14 were wounded.

Other Communist mortars caused light casualties at the government outpost of An Lo, on north-south Highway 1 near the northern frontier 8 miles from the old imperial capital of Hue.

The Viet Cong exacted their heaviest toll in the past 24 hours by ambushing two platoons of government militiamen on road-clearing work 16 miles south of Saigon Monday afternoon.

Dr. E.L. Spence, Kennett, Dies

KENNETT -- Dr. E. L. Spence, well-known physician and land owner, died Sunday at Dunklin County Memorial hospital following a heart attack Saturday. Services were conducted at the First Baptist Church of Kennett at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday with the Rev. W. E. Martin officiating. Burial was in Oak Ridge cemetery. Lentz Funeral Home was in charge.

Dr. Spence, who would have been 78 this coming March 25, had been active in his profession as an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist up to the time he suffered the heart attack.

After teaching school and serving as superintendent of Cardwell schools, he decided to study medicine and went to Tulane University at New Orleans, La., where he graduated from the school of medicine. Following his internship he taught in the school of medicine at the University of Missouri.

He left Missouri University to become pathologist at the State Hospital in Fulton. During World War I he volunteered for service and was commissioned a first lieutenant and stationed at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D. C.

At the close of the war, Dr. Spence became medical director of Central Louisiana Hospital. Later he returned to Kennett to become director of the Dunklin County health department. During this time he served as president of the Missouri Public Health Association.

From 1929-1931 the physician specialized in the study of eye, ear, nose and throat division of Baltimore Hospital. Later he became chief of the eye, ear, nose and throat department of the Plainview, Tex. Hospital. When his father died, Dr. Spence returned to Kennett to open an office here in 1934 to practice as an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist.

During the past 25 years the physician has held various offices in the Missouri State Medical Association and served 22 years as secretary and seven years as chairman of the Dunklin County Medical Society.

Dr. Spence was appointed as one of the original members from Missouri on the Tennessee-Missouri Bridge Commission by Gov. Forrest Smith in 1949. For five years he served as chairman of the commission.

A staunch Democrat, Dr. Spence served on the state executive and finance committees several times. He was an honorary colonel on the staffs of Gov. Phil Donnelly and Gov. James T. Blair.

Train Victim First Vehicle Death in '66

DEXTER -- AP -- Charles Rodgers, 29, of Dexter, was killed Monday at 10:41 a.m. when his pickup truck was struck by a Cotton Belt freight train two miles south of here. Stoddard County Coroner Ray Rainey said Rodgers apparently did not see the train before crossing the tracks.

A passenger in the truck, William Williams of Dexter, suffered minor injuries and was taken to the Poe Clinic. Williams was Rodgers' brother-in-law.

Rodgers was the first vehicle fatality in troop E state patrol area in 1966, ending 19 days of fatality free driving in the region.

Coroner Rainey said that he hadn't decided if an inquest would be necessary. He stated there were eyewitnesses with whom he had not been able to talk.

Rodgers was born May 8, 1936, and had been employed by McDonnell Aircraft in St. Louis.

L. A. Mabry of Scott City was the engineer on the train that was traveling north.

The body of Rodgers was taken to the Rainey Funeral Home.

Foot Soldiers Form Bulk Of Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The vast bulk of the 113,000 additional fighting men sought by the Johnson administration will be used to strengthen Army and Marine ground forces, it was learned today.

American ground forces are shouldering an ever-greater combat load in the Viet Nam war.

The Navy and Air Force each will get only a few thousand more men in the new buildup, which will push total U.S. armed strength over the 3-million mark for the first time in a dozen years.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen at the White House Monday that the administration will ask Congress to vote another $12.346 billion to underwrite the soaring costs of the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam. The White House said $415 million will also be asked for economic purposes, bringing the supplemental total to $12.761 billion.

This is the second major supplementary money request and military manpower increase for this year stemming directly from the deeper U.S. commitment in Viet Nam.

Club Told of U.S. Project

The Manpower Development demonstration project was described to the Rotary club last night at Holiday Inn by Elbert Waide, Charleston, its coordinator.

The University of Missouri federal labor department project can give training only to Mississippi countians who have less than a ninth grade education and who are unemployed or underemployed. They can be placed in work anywhere in the Bootheel.

Waide said that the labor department wants to find out whether such persons will move if they find a job, whether they can fill one and whether employers can train them. The university will pay up to half the cost of training, ranging up to six months.

Waide said that there were five on his staff. He said that he did not remember the project's cost and could not report on the number of placements until the project, which began in July, is concluded next January.

Jim Smith of Dexter was a visiting Rotarian; Robert Summers led the singing and Mary Ann Bruce accompanied at the piano.

Lee C. Cochran, Jr., Jackson, was announced as a candidate for Rotary district governor.
